For the prevention and cure o
BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended

HAHN's ANTI BILIOUS PILLS

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of person can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserve their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficatious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

The Genuine Persian Lotion,

So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellent minerals, the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflamatory redness, scurfs, tetters, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.

Fan-Sash Making.

METAL FAN-SASHES, of various descriptions, will be made by the subscriber, at his shop, lower end of Duke street. The want of a Metal Fan-Sash Manufactory in Alexandria, has hitherto been severely felt by builders and others, who have been compelled to make use of wood, which is neither elegant nor durable. The various forms into which the metal can be shaped have given it a decided superiority, and the difference in the price is very trifling. The subscriber has been at considerable expence in procuring the necessary preparations, and relies on public enterprise for success in the undertaking.

Gentlemen in the country, by sending the dimensions of their sashes, can have them made at the same price as if in town.

THE LAUGH...A SONG.

When Momus was sent to cheer mortals on earth,
Good humor, chaste goddess, he took as his wife;
Content was their motto, supported by mirth,
A laugh they proclaim'd was the essence of life.

Dull care would you shun, seek the young and the gay,
Fly qualms of the mind, Momus calls them but vile;
Attend to my council, observe what I say,
And laugh at the grave ones who frown if you smile.

A laugh, that choice emblem of concord and joy,
Dispeller of gloom and promoter of peace,
To create and support, wit his time shall employ,
And Bacchus shall give to each life a new lease.

Come rosy god, come thy joys with ours blend,
Here harmony reigns, with true friendship we quaff,
The song and the joke, round the table we send,
And find that the essence of life is a laugh.

Original Miscellany.

PROVIDENCE...NO. IV.

(Concluded.)

"How great that pow'r whose providential care
Thro' these bright orbs' dark centres darts a ray!

The Magii of Persia kept a perpetual fire burning on the altars of their temples to the sun; and it was a fixed principle of their worship whenever a Magian addressed the sun (out of reverence) he was to turn his face toward the sacred fire, which was held as sacred by them as the Shecinah of the Jewish temple was by the Jews. And the ancients had their judicial astrology. Their star gazers who pretended to be conversant with futurity by the phenomena in the heavens, and from thence to foretell at their birth the fates of princes and others. This only shows where one paid divine honors to the sun and worshipped it as their deity, and where the others made, as absurdly, every star into a God, in what light and to what an excess of superstitious reverence they were accustomed to look upon the heavens; and their thus abusing the light of nature can attach no blame to the deity, who endowed them with a reason which, if they had properly exercised in chastening their imaginations, would have delivered them out of this dark and senseless superstition.

We may contend, in support of this argument, that there are examples on the other hand among the heathens, where with no other light than the light of nature, reflected from her works and their own reason, they have reasoned correctly of the being and the attributes of God.—We discover Socrates among heathens, like Noah among the Antidulevians, amidst the universal darkness that covered the world, assisted by the light of nature, arriving at the belief of the being of a God, that he created the world by his power, and upholds it by his providence; and in addition to this, in the immortality of the soul, and in a future state of rewards and punishments.

Thus have we seen how the heavens declare the glory of God, and the firmament showeth his handy work. If the magians and the star gazers refined this to too great an excess—the one in mistaking the sun for a deity, and the other in ascribing, by their judicial astrology, the attributes of God to every star, and thus, in proving too much, have proved nothing—let us, then, turn to the example of the holy psalmist of Israel, and with him, in the possession of revealed light, exclaim, When I consider thy heavens, the work of thy fingers; the moon and the stars, which thou hast ordained; what is man, that thou art mindful of him? and the son of man, that thou visitest him?

ALEXANDRIA:
WEDNESDAY, MARCH 11, 1818.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT AT WASHINGTON.

Tuesday, March 10, 1818.

The committee to whom it was referred to fix upon and report a day for the adjournment of the present session, having reported a resolution fixing on Monday the 13th of April for that purpose, and that resolution having been twice read on Saturday last, the question was yesterday put that it should be then read a third time; when Mr. Poindexter, on grounds which I could not hear him distinctly particularise, moved that it should be postponed to Wednesday next, and to that end that it should be laid upon the table.

Mr. Tayler observed that there had already been sufficient discussion on the question, to enable every man to make up his mind either on that day or the next. He hoped it would not be postponed beyond to-morrow; and even then there would be thirty days between that and the 13th of April—in which time, if they would but economize their time, they could discharge much of the remaining business.

Mr. Baldwin strenuously opposed this premature decision. He said that there were no less than 113 cases on the docket, and that more than 100 were lying on the table; and with regard to the time they would occupy, it was of little consequence whether they were public or private—witness the trifling case of Henry King's claim, which had exhausted the whole of that morning up to two o'clock. According to the present mode of haranguing, every case would take up some time, and many there were that would demand many days' discussion, requiring whole systems to be digested. He emphatically put the question to them, how they could think of rising, till the public business which they undertook with their constituents to do, should be all done? Were they not bound to do it—and how could they do it in thirty days?—It was impossible. The subjects yet for consideration included the most vital interests of the union—its manufactures, its commerce, its navigation, its revenues; and if they adjourned on the day proposed, they must leave most of it undone: in that case, what should they be able to say to their constituents?—What answer should they give to those unfortunate individual claimants who had been for God knows how long a time knocking in vain at their doors for justice?—How should they answer to the public at large?

General Harrison said that with proper economy of time, the house could do all the necessary business, and adjourn on the 13th. After having given this opinion, he urged the necessity of going through the militia law, and said that several of the states, particularly Georgia, had suspended their legislative proceedings on the subject of their respective militia, waiting for the passing of some law of congress upon it, before they would venture to proceed. He wished the resolution to lie on the table, in order to see whether the house could not adopt some mode of economizing their time.—The motion of laying on the table was negatived: and then came the question whether the resolution of the committee should be adopted; which being taken by yeas and nays, there were

For it 101
Against it 46

So the resolution passed, and the house is to be adjourned on the 13th April.

The internal improvement bill then was brought forward again under the consideration of a committee of the whole. Hitherto the debate has almost entirely turned upon the objections grounded on the want of constitutional power in congress, started by Mr. Barbour, and which were answered by Mr. Clay on Saturday, chiefly by arguments connected with the expediency, the value, the sound policy, and the incalculable advantage to the growth, the strength, the speedy population of the union, and the utility of the proposed system. This day Mr. Cushman, in a very able argument, demonstrated that these constitutional exceptions were in fact extremely frivolous, and destitute of substantial grounds either in the letter or spirit of the constitution. He showed that the same objections were at least as applicable to an infinite variety of measures which had, from time to time since the first existence of the union, been passed for the benefit of commerce—many of which he particularized; and from the whole of which he deduced, as an irrefragable inference, this principle, That the congress had a right to exercise, with the consent of the states, a power which the states by withholding that power might prevent from being carried into effect. And he read from the constitution passages to show that the congress possessed the power to promote commerce, and to appropriate money for the purpose, with this simple provision, that it should be exercised only upon proper objects. And that this being granted, it must possess also, as incidental to that power, the right of doing all that was necessary, even extending it to the use of the soil and to individual property, on making full compensation to the owners. In proof of the public advantage of the measure, he instanced, for one thing, the extravagant expense of transporting military stores in the late war, which, for no more than 65 miles, he said, if I heard him aright, cost no less than two millions of dollars.

Mr. Austin followed next, and supported the objections of Mr. Barbour in a long speech; after which the committee rose, and the house adjourned—at about sunset.

Washington, March 7.

It appears from the communication transmitted by the Governor of South Carolina to the President, and by him laid before the House of Representatives, that an amendment to the constitution, passed by two-thirds of both houses of Congress, and it was supposed concurred in by the requisite majority of the states, was not in fact concured in, but was rejected by the state of South Carolina, who had been supposed to have ratified it, and that, without her vote, the proposition did not receive the sanction of two thirds of the states. The amendment referred to has been printed with the late editions, as a part of the Constitution, and is in the following words:

"Resolved, By the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, two thirds of both houses concurring, that the following section be submitted to the Legislatures of the several States, which when ratified by the legislatures of three fourths of the states, shall be valid and binding, as a part of the constitution of the United States—If any citizen of the United States shall accept, claim, receive or retain any title of nobility or honor, or shall, without the consent of Congress, accept and retain any present, pension, office, or emolument, of any kind whatever, from any emperor, king, prince, or foreign power, such person shall cease to be a citizen of the United States, and shall be incapable of holding any office of trust or profit under them or either of them."

It ought to be generally known, as it is now ascertained, that this amendment was not ratified by three fourths of the states, and therefore is not a part of the constitution. [Intel.

The act of Maryland to regulate LOTTERIES is too long for publication, but is not without interest. A board of three Commissioners is appointed, who are to superintend all lotteries to be drawn, and without whose agency none can be drawn. After all the lotteries now authorized by law are drawn, lotteries are to be the exclusive property of the State—the Treasury of which is to receive the proceeds of sales, and pay the prizes, retaining, as a tax or compensation for this agency, five per cent on the amount of all prizes drawn, which amount is also fixed on the lotteries already authorized. The commissioners are each to receive twelve hundred dollars salary, and their clerk one thousand. Two other commissioners are to be added to the board when the right of devising and drawing all lotteries reverts to the state. These provisions appear to us to be prudent and equitable." [ibid.

Marine and Fire Risks;

and they are also now authorised to make insurance on LIVES.

They submit, for the information of applicants, the fundamental rules they have adopted under the authority of their charter, by which the principles that are to govern in all cases of marine and fir insurances are defined.

Applications for insurances may be made at their office, on Royal-street, (next door to the City Hotel) each day, from 12 to 2 o'clock, in writing; and the applicant is requested to add the name of the endorser he proposes to give on the premium note.

FUNDAMENTAL RULES FOR MARINE RISKS.

1. All rules and regulations in use by the Marine Insurance Company of Alexandria, and not contrary to the following, are adopted by this institution.

2. The credits for payment of all premiums exceeding fifty dollars, shall be as follow, by approved notes with one endorser, viz:

To or from—To & from
2 months—3 months—Ports in the United States, Louisiana excepted.
4 months—6 months—The West Indies, Louisiana, Florida, Spanish Maine North of the Equator.
6 months—8 months—Europe and Africa, European Turkey and the White Sea excepted.
7 months—9 months—Turkey, the Wh. and Black Seas, South America, (east coast) South of the Equator.
12 months—15 months—India and China and beyond the Cape of Good Hope and Cape Horn generally.

3. Insurances on vessels and on commissions are, in all cases, to be made in valued policies only. Those on commissions free from average and salvage.

4. It will be preferable that insurances on freight be likewise valued. But if "on freight" simply, two thirds of the amount of gross freight covered shall be understood to be the insurable interest. If bills of loading or charter parties stipulate no freight on goods, being owner's property, &c. the amount shall be fixed by arbitration, of freights for voyages out and home: one half is to be applied to each voyage, unless otherwise agreed upon.

5. On sums insured upon imaginary or expected profits, the same per centage in case of loss will be paid as would be recoverable on the value or cost of the goods themselves, general average and salvage excepted, to which profits are deemed not liable to contribute.

6. When a risk is offered to this company, on which prior insurances are made, it is requested that the circumstance be mentioned at the time of the application, if the policy applied for is to be a valued one, or if the prior insurances are made on valued policies.

7. Insurable interests of persons residing in the District of Columbia, under open policies on voyages out and home, are to be shown by simply covering the amount of the invoice with half the premium round. Persons residing out of the District have to add, in all cases, to their amount of insurable interest half per cent. commission for effecting insurance, and one and a half per cent. commission to recover losses. The amount of invoices understood to include a commission of two and a half per cent. on shipments from port to port in the United States, and five per cent. to or from foreign countries.

8. All persons having losses or return premiums to claim from this company, are desired to give notice thereof as soon as they are in possession of the requisite information. Should they neglect to do so, they would have to ascribe a delay in the adjustment to themselves, as it is intended to adjust and settle all claims against this company successively as they are notified.

9. This company will abide by all statements of general average made abroad under competent authority, and according to the local laws, if not incompatible with the express terms of their policies. They will refund contributions actually paid abroad by or for the insured as general average, without regard to the valuation of the property insured.

10 When general averages are stated here, goods are to be rated in the accounts of contributary capital at their actual net proceeds; and if that cannot be easily ascertained, at their cost, (according to invoice) with the premium of insurance covered, and ten per cent imaginary profit on the first cost and charges, exclusive of insurance. In all cases of general average or particular damage to be stated here, the insured shall give notice to this company immediately after the arrival of the vessel; and, thereupon, an application shall be mutually made to the mayor for the time being, or, in his absence, to a magistrate, to appoint three suitable and well qualified persons, being first duly sworn, to go on board, diligently to view, search and examine, as they may be directed, and to make such re-

11. It is stipulated in the policies that this company will allow, in general average, seamen's wages and provisions in cases of capture or detention for adjudication; but they will not be answerable therefor in cases of Embargo.

12. When vessels or goods are insured to a port, into which they are not admissable, this company will continue on the risk to the next convenient open port, which the master in his discretion may choose to go to; but they will not, in such case, accept of an abandonment, nor will they contribute to the expenses of transporting goods by land or water from the port so chosen to that of original destination; nor will they pay a returned premium for shortening the voyage, if the master during the passage should be informed of the occlusion of his "destined" port, and in consequence of such information choose to go to another. Damage suffered by goods will in no case whatever be allowed in general average.

13. The insured shall be entitled to recover from this company a particular average or partial loss, as well as a total loss, on any number of packages properly distinguished by marks and numbers, it agreed upon and specified in the policies, the same as if such number of packages (parts of a whole cargo or invoice insured in one policy) were insured in several policies.

14. When goods, the value of which is ascertained by weight, are damaged, the company will indemnify the insured for the deficiency in weight, which may be occasioned by such damage, by comparing the actual weight of the sound goods with that of the damaged, and with the invoice or valuation in the policy.

15. All liquids in casks or otherwise, are by a clause in the policy declared free from average, unless general or the ship be stranded—In a case of partial loss on liquids occurring under this stipulation, ten per cent ordinary leakage shall be always deducted.

16. A vessel shall be deemed "stranded" when she grounds and strikes on some bank, shore or rock, and can either not be got off at all, or not without extraneous help and unlading or throwing overboard her cargo or a part of it—The exertions of the ship's crew are not extraneous help.

17. When insurances are made against "sea risk only," and a vessel, which is so insured by this company, is taken or captured, the risk of the insurer ceases at the moment the vessel is taken; but if she is released or liberated, the risk of the insurer recommences as soon as she reached that point or one nearest to it, in good and proper condition, in the due course for her destined port, from whence she was diverted by the capture.

18. The president and directors of this company for the time being, shall have power to alter, amend, or abolish these rules, or any of them, and from time to time to add others to them, giving suitable notice thereof.

FUNDAMENTAL RULES FOR RISK AGAINST FIRE.

1. Persons desirous to make insurance on buildings, are to state in writing the following particulars, viz.: Of what materials the walls and roofs of each building are constructed, as well as the construction of the buildings contiguous thereto—whether the same are occupied as private dwellings or how otherwise—where situated—also the name or names of the present occupiers.

Each building must be separately valued, and a specified sum insured thereon; and in like manner a separate sum insured on the property contained therein.

All manufactories which contain furnaces, kilns, stoves, ovens, or use fire heat, are chargeable at additional rates.

In the insurance of goods, wares and merchandize, the building or place in which the same are deposited, is to be described, also whether such goods are of the kinds denominated hazardous; and whether any manufactory is carried on in the premises. And if any person or persons shall insure his or their buildings or goods, and shall cause the same to be described in the policy otherwise than as they really are, so as the same be charged at a lower premium than would otherwise be demanded, such insurance shall be of no force.

2. Goods held in trust or on commission, are to be insured as such, otherwise the policy will not extend to cover such property.

3. No loss or damge to be paid on fire happening by any invasion, foreign enemy, civil commotion, riot or any military or usurped power whatever—nor for damage done by fire occasioned by earthquakes and hurricanes—but this company will make good losses on property burnt by lightning.

4. Books of accounts, written securities bills, bonds, and ready money cannot be insured.

5. Jewels, plate, medals, or other curiosities, paintings and sculptures, are not included in any insurance, unless such articles are specified in the policy.

6 Persons insuring property at this office, must give notice of any other insurance made elsewhere, for their behalf on the same, and cause such insurance to be endorsed on their policies—and, unless such notice is given, the insured will not be entitled to recover in case of loss.

7. Every policy of insurance issued by this company, shall be signed by the President and attested by the Secretary; and the person for whose interest the insurance is made, must be declared and named therein; nor can any policy or interest therein be assigned, but by consent of the company expressed by endorsement thereon.

8. No insurance will be considered as made or binding, until the premium be actually paid.

9. All persons assured by this company, sustaining any loss or damage by fire, are forthwith to give notice to the company, and as soon as possible thereafter deliver in as particular an account of their loss or damage, signed with their own hands, as the nature of the case will admit of, and make proof of the same by their oath or affirmation, and by their books of accounts or other proper vouchers, as shall be reasonably required, and shall procure a certificate under the hand of a magistrate or a sworn notary, of the town or county, in which the fire happened, not concerned in such loss directly or indirectly, importing that they are acquainted with the character and circumstances of the person or persons insured, and do know, or verily believe, that he, she, or they, really, and by misfortune, without any kind of fraud or evil practice, have sustained by such fire loss or damage, to the amount therein mentioned—and until such affidavit and certificate are produced, the loss claimed shall not be payable; also, if there appears any fraud, the claimant shall forfeit his claim to restitution or payment, by virtue of his policy.

10. In case any difference shall arise between the assured and the company, touching any loss or damage, such difference may be referred to two persons, one to be chosen by the assured out of three persons to be named by the President of said company, and the other by the President out of three persons named by the assured, whose award in writing shall be conclusive and binding on both parties. And when any loss or damage shall have been duly proved, the insured shall receive satisfaction to the full amount thereof without any allowance of any discount, fees or other reduction whatever.

11 Persons choosing to insure for seven years, will be charged for six years only—and for a less number than seven, will be allowed a reasonable discount.

12. The President and directors of this company, for the time being, shall have power to alter, amend, or abolish those rules, or any of them, and from time to time to add others to them, giving suitable public notice thereof.

James Kennedy & Son,

RESPECTFULLY inform the public that they have just received from

LEE's MEDICINE STORE,

No. 46, Maiden lane, New-York a fresh supply of the following valuable MEDICINES:

Hamilton's Worm-destroying Lozenges,

Which have within sixteen years past cured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from WORMS, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent & is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body; but will without pain or griping cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.

Worms which infest the human body are chiefly of four kinds viz.—The Teres or large round worm; the Ascarides or small maw-worm; the Cucurbitine or short flat white worm; and lastly, the Tænia or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the anus; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food and sometimes voracious; purging with slimy and fœtid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; pains in the head and thighs and lowness of spirits; slow fever with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent "the vomiting and purging of children"—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

The Restorative Powder for the Teeth and Gums.

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended

HAHN's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficatious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Hamilton's Elixir,

A sovereign remedy for colds, obstinate coughs, asthmas, sore throats, catarrhs, and approaching consumptions.—To parents who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative,

Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of

Nervous Disorders	Violent cramps in the stomach and back
Consumptions
Lowness of spirits	Indigestion
Loss of appetite	Melancholy
Impurity of blood	Gout in the stomach
Hysteric affection	Pains in the limbs
Inward weaknesses and debility	Relaxations, etc.

Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard.

A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic rheumatism, gout, rheumatic gout, palsy, lumbago, numbness, white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain in the face and neck, etc. etc.

Lee's Ointment for the Itch.

Warranted an infallible remedy at one application, may be used with perfect safety by pregnant women, or on infants a week old, not containing a particle of mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever, and not accompanied with that tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

Hahn's true & genuine German Corn Plaister.

An infallible remedy for corns, speedily removing them root and branch, without giving any pain.

The Genuine Persian Lotion,

So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellent minerals, the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflamatory redness, scurfs, tetters, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.

Hahn's genuine Eye Water,

A sovereign remedy for all diseases of the eyes, whether the effect of natural weakness or of accident.

Tooth Ache Drops.

The only remedy yet discovered which gives immediate and lasting relief in the most severe instances.

Lee's Infallible Ague and Fever Drops

For the cure of agues, remittent and intermittent fevers.

☞ At the place of sale pamphlets may be had gratis, describing cures performed by the above medicines; the number, importance and respectability of which, fully justify every article of this advertisement.
